BV MARTIN J. SHERIDAN, Evening World's Athletic Expert With the American Olympic Team at London.

LONDON, July 18.—The weather picked up to-day and the crowd was good. The American team started in well with a point for third place in the 3,500 metre run that we had little hope of capturing.

In the Greek discus, as you are already aware, I made a first and Billy Horr, of the Irish-American Athletic Club, was second. I was expecting Dearborn to be one-two-three, but the Finn, Janvrien, a fine athlete and a consistent performer, took third place.

I surprised myself at the result. The best I had done in the Greek style in practice was 127 feet 9 inches, but I whipped it out nearly another foot. Bill Horr was there with the goods, getting 122 feet 5 1-2 inches. Janvrien made 119 feet 8 1-2 inches.

The new record goes with my throw, which beat the Giorgantas throw at Athens two years ago.
